

NEW FACTORY/SHOWROOM IN OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA NOW SERVING THE ENTIRE PACIFIC RIM

Our new factory and showroom is right next door to the Oakland International Airport (a Southwest Airlines hub, for low-cost US fares) and only 30 minutes to the San Francisco International Airport.

Our factory Building: 851 81st Ave., Oakland California

We are located at 851 81st Ave., Oakland; Unit 120. This is in the historic “Sunshine Biscuit Factory” and is just minutes from the Oakland International Airport, as well as walking distance to the Coliseum Bart (rapid transit) station. Also nearby is the Oakland Coliseum (home of the “Raiders”) and across the street we have the Mother’s Cookies Factory. All good neighbors. Directly across the Bay, via the Oakland Bay Bridge, is San Francisco itself, only about 15 minutes drive away.

We encourage all serious, high-performance audiophiles to fly in for a demonstration of our Reference Granite stereo systems, as well as the all new Music Surround System.

This latter system utilizes five of the Reference Granite speakers, along with a proprietary all-analog surround system control processor, which must be heard to be believed. There is nothing like it on the market today, and (according to our press release) audiophiles will not even know what they have been missing, until they have heard this system!

VIEWS OF INSIDE OUR FACTORY WAREHOUSE/WORKSPACE/TESTING ROOM

Our 600 square feet of speaker assembly area

Warehouse area (2000 square feet) – cabinets are winched out of crates (shipped from our furniture factory) onto dolly, then wheeled into assembly area. Shown is a new design – all wood veneer; ready for assembly.

Testing room – 20' wide by 30' long by 10' high. Ceilings are acoustic panels; floor is carpet; all walls covered with polyester batting material, for excellent acoustic conditions with testing and listening. Shown are some experimental new round wood horns – soon to be standard on the Reference Granite speaker system.

A group of cabinets being set up for testing. Note bunk for the proprietor. We work late night hours!

Though we had hoped to have our products displayed by Audio Dealers around the world by now, we have found that our systems are just too big, and require too large a listening room for dealers to be able to stock and show them. So we decided to open this new showroom, in a very convenient location for both US customers, as well as anywhere in the Pacific Rim, and encourage audiophiles from all over the world to fly in for a demo.

If you purchase a system, your airfare will be rebated. Think of this offer as not only an opportunity to hear the world's finest audio reproduction, but also a free vacation to San Francisco!
